

Plant Guardian

Roz Cooper

I've been passionate about plants since childhood and love discovering their stories and origins.

As a Plant Guardian, I care for rare and endangered varieties, often finding treasures through Plant Heritage's national plant exchange.

I take great joy in growing unusual plants and supporting conservation, even helping a collection holder find a rare peony from my own garden.